

7 kwietnia 2018 r. odbył się organizowany przez EMCAPP (European Movement for Christian Anthropology, Psychology and Psychotherapy) internetowy wykład Anny Ostaszewskiej nt. Integrative Psychotherapy: A Christian Approach.

Słuchaczami były osoby z USA, Niemiec, Kambodży, Finlandii, Holandii, Ukrainy i Polski.

Komentarz Gwen White - dyrektora CAPS (Christian Association for Psychological Studies) z USA: Szkolę nowych terapeutów z perspektywy chrześcijańskiej od 22 lat i mamy bardzo podobny model, który rozwijamy w Eastern University k. Filadelfii. To potwierdzenie, że słuchamy Ducha Świętego razem!

I really enjoyed Anna's lecture today. Thanks again for your work in presenting it. Currently I'm the Chair of the Board of the Christian Association for Psychological Studies here in the U.S. Anna's topic was of great interest to me. I've been training new therapists from a Christian perspective for about 22 years now and have a very similar model that we developed at Eastern University near Philadelphia. It was very encouraging to see such a similar model emerging from across the ocean! A confirmation that we are listening to the Holy Spirit together!

Blessings,
Gwen

Gwen M. White, Psy.D.

Professor Emerita, Doctoral Programs in Marriage and Family Therapy Eastern University